UVA HR Speakers: Hannah Henderson, Registered Nurse-PACU

Hannah Henderson: Hi, my name is Hannah Henderson. I work in the PACU at UVA Health. I moved here from Colorado almost a year and a half ago now. What drew me here was the Charlottesville area for one. My husband is from Virginia, so it was between here and Fairfax. I wanted a nice level 1 facility with a lot of patient population. We ended up driving around the Fairfax area, decided that was not where we wanted to live, and settled in Charlottesville. But then, between the two hospitals still decided, whichever one obviously paid better and was a more comfortable atmosphere is where I would work. Between the two, management here was 100% better, and actually had a manager here who checked in with me every day since we were moving across the country. She actually helped me try to look for places to live, checked in on me once a month, and worked with me until I was actually able to move here, which was something I've never had before. So, loved that. And then ultimately, when it came down to price line and everything, UVA definitely beat out the competition. So, here I am happy as a clam.
