Notes	Target Audience: All Medical Center Supervisors, Managers and Directors Topic: Selecting and Retaining High Performers Description: Employees of UVA Medical Center, management and non-management, are crying out for development in management positions. Employee Engagement surveys indicate a high need for increased trust, communication, recognition and opportunities for advancement. Employees also have expressed a concern that UVAMC could do a better job at attracting and retaining high performers and addressing low performers. Improvement in these areas will result in 1) employees feeling like they were the most important resource to the organization and 2) managers feeling more successful in their roles. Ideally, all participants would benefit from focused instruction and learning to better meet organizational expectations.
